

Qualifications – the pot of gold

Every candidate enrolled on the programme will work towards an Advanced Apprenticeship (V.C.Q. in Motor Vehicle Maintenance and Repair and an IMI Technical qualification), as well as achieving Mitsubishi Technician status upon completion of the programme.

In order to gain these qualifications the apprentice will demonstrate knowledge through the following:

- A series of performance based practical assessments
- V.C.Q. Portfolio building
- End of block course written examination

Within the Modern Apprenticeship qualification there are three areas in which the learner must prove knowledge, understanding and competence.

1. V.C.Q. Level 3 Portfolio, plus underpinning knowledge examinations.
2. Key Skills – examinations, communication, application of number and Information Technology, plus portfolio.
3. Technical Certificate – Latest Institute of Motor Industry standards.

When all three elements have been achieved an 'Advanced Apprentice' framework certificate is awarded.

When two years' experience has been gained after receipt of the 'Advanced Apprentice' certificate and all the relevant courses have been achieved, then 'Master Technician' status will be awarded.

Where you'll stay

As part of The Advanced Apprenticeship Programme, Apprentices will complete block-release from their dealership to study for their Technical Certificate.

The Technical Certificate training is carried out in the Mitsubishi Training Academy based at The Colt Car Company in Cirencester.

During their block-release, apprentices will stay at Riverside House, which is located at CCC, a secure business site that is only accessible through a security gate that is manned 24 hours a day.

All the rooms are en-suite with TV and tea & coffee making facilities.

All the B&B arrangements are made by The Training Department and lunch is provided at Riverside House during the apprentice's stay at CCC.

Riverside House is independently managed and situated at the headquarters of The Colt Car Company Limited, official distributor for Mitsubishi Motors in the UK.
